

Chi chi so rumauntsch so dapü

(Upper Engadine Romansh (Puter) for: If you can speak Romansh, you can speak more)

Rhaeto-Romanic - which developed from the Vulgar Latin of the Roman legionaries and settlers and the language of the original Rhaetians - with its idioms Puter (Upper Engadin), Valader/Jauer (Lower Engadin, Müstertal), Surmiran (Oberhalbstein, Albula), Sutsilvan (Domleschg, Schams) and Sursilvan (Bündner Oberland), is spoken by around 60,000 people in Switzerland today. Romansh has been officially recognised as the 4th national language since 1938.

In October you will have the opportunity to learn the basics of Romansh in a very relaxed atmosphere and in small groups. During this week you will be accompanied and taught by highly competent teachers who will familiarise you with the language and culture of the Engadin.
